Introduction

Tibetan Homes Foundation (THF), Tibetan Homes Foundation (THF) is a charitable institute dedicated to working for the care of orphans, semi orphan, and destitute Tibetan refugee children. The Foundation initially set up accordingly to the vision and guidance of His Holiness by Mrs. Rinchen Dolma Taring, the first General Secretary of THF, with three Homes and seventy five orphaned and destitute Tibetan refugee children has grown into an institution with over 2000 orphan, semi-orphan, destitute children living in 58 Homes and three hostels and receiving education in the main residential school at Mussoorie and two other branches located at Rajpur and near Rishikesh.

CTA organized one day in THF Mussoorie to sensitize students on gender and also to increase their awareness on gender in general. The main topics of discussions in the workshop were:

- Gender and sex
- Gender stereotypes
- Gender and socialization

Knowing each other

The training started with a small introductory session where the trainer and students were formally introduced to each other by the CTA coordinator and school management.

Understanding Sex and Gender

Before starting the session, the students were asked what they understand by the term ‘gender’. Few students responded by saying that it means ‘male and female’; ‘signifies the sexual difference’ and signifies the differences between the two.

After this short discussion, a movie was shown ‘A boy and A girl’. This is a one minute movie which talks about the gendered practices that take place since birth.

The students were able to identify some of the issues they face in their everyday lives such as girls are given more chores at home than boys, girls are asked to stay pretty and neat all the time, etc.
Once this discussion was over, the students were then divided into small groups of 7 and they were asked what the symbols of being a boy are and what the symbols of being a girl are.

For about 20 mins, students were sharing their experiences of being a boy or a girl and they did they identify themselves to be different from the other sex. One by one the students came and shared their discussion points with the group.

Each response was discussed at length to analyse the relation of each word written on the board, with/in the life of a boy or a girl. Certain questions were raised by the trainer to help them reflect better on the words they had used to describe their assigned group name in order to facilitate a better understanding of gender biases that exist within themselves and in their communities. Each of the questions raised was followed by a discussion.

1. Label: Stronger

   Q: How did boys become stronger? Why girls can’t be stronger?

   Responses: boys are stronger because they are given opportunities to play sports and they are allowed to do many things. That makes them stronger mentally and physically. Girls only stay at home and do light work, such as cooking, cleaning, etc. If girls speak up confidently, boys laugh and stare. But if a boy speaks up, other boys support him.

2. Label: toys-dolls/guns

   Q: what is the difference between the two toys and how the toys are gendered?

   Responses: Since everyone expects boys to be strong, they are given toys that will help them in behaving strongly and maturely. Such as... guns, cars, engineer toys kit, etc. Girls are given toys that are pretty and elegant, such as dolls, doll house, makeup kit, etc. because girls are expected to be kind and gentle and ever smiling. These toys also signify our destiny and roles.

3. Label: Household chores.
   Q: how many boys do their own work at home? But why the emphasis is more on girls to learn the work?
   Responses: in our home, the work is equally divided. Such as carrying egg crates, carrying crates of juices, cleaning the house, cooking, etc. but we also know that when we start our own families one day, we will ourselves depend on the women to do the work. Because their socialisation is such that household chores are only seen as not important and therefore women must do it. Whereas men are expected to work outside and earn money.

The concept of sex and gender was then introduced to them and it was explained to them that the characteristics (moustache, sexual organ, menstruation and breast) that an individual is born with defines its sex. However the traits like kind, emotionally weak, strong, etc. are related to the personality of a person and it has nothing to do with the sex of that person.

A baby is born

The students were then broken in two groups of boys and girls. The students were asked to imagine themselves to the father or mother of a child. The two groups were then asked to look at these terms and think which is more likely to make the child successful /unsuccessful in the world based on the characteristics. Each group was given some words, such as jobs, fat, disabled, punishment, short hair, etc.

The two teams thought hard and discussed among themselves which attribute will make a child more or less successful. Following was the outcome.

As the discussion took place while reasoning with all the words, it was becoming clear to the students there are attributes of both boys and girls in Successful and Unsuccessful faces. Based on the discussion that took place at the beginning of the session, where more positive works were associated with boys (such as strong, pvt. schooling, tall, more opportunities, etc.) and negative attributes for girls (such as emotionally weak, weaker sex, do laundry, can’t go out, etc.) here all those words were seen in both successful and unsuccessful child,

The group was then asked to look at the words and identify which attributes are given to girls and which attributes are given to boy by the society. These have been highlighted with pink and blue

The response that was received from the students was that “anyone can be successful and it really doesn't matter on the sex of the child/person but on their capabilities. It’s all in the attitudes that we have a preconceived notion of the term ‘successes’. In our society boys are preferred over girls in a family and they is given all the opportunities and resources to become successful, he can turn out to be quite unsuccessful”.

“We have been made to believe that if girls are given household chores they can’t work outside or the man who is working can’t look after the children. All these words that we discussed had no gendered label on it. Our socialization has gendered our thoughts and attitudes”.

The gender session was concluded with two games, Sab ke sath (groupings) and Circle dodge ball, to see if the students have been able to bring a shift in their behavior. All the male and female students participated and had a good team work.
